24-CV-9646 (LTS)

ORDER TO AMEND

LAURA TAYLOR SWAIN, Chief United States District Judge:

Plaintiff Juan Lovelady, who currently is detained at the Otis Bantum Correctional Center (“OBCC”), brings this action, pro se, under 42 U.S.C. § 1983, alleging that Defendants violated his constitutional rights during his detention at the OBCC. By order dated January 28, 2025, the Court granted Plaintiff’s request to proceed in forma pauperis (“IFP”), that is, without prepayment of fees.¹ For the reasons set forth below, the Court grants Plaintiff leave to file an amended complaint within 60 days of the date of this order.

STANDARD OF REVIEW

The Court must dismiss an IFP complaint, or any portion of the complaint, that is frivolous or malicious, fails to state a claim on which relief may be granted, or seeks monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B); see Livingston v. Adirondack Beverage Co., 141 F.3d 434, 437 (2d Cir. 1998). The Court must also dismiss a complaint when the Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction of the claims raised. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(h)(3).

While the law mandates dismissal on any of these grounds, the Court is obliged to construe pro se pleadings liberally, Harris v. Mills, 572 F.3d 66, 72 (2d Cir. 2009), and interpret them to raise the “strongest [claims] that they suggest,” Triestman v. Fed. Bureau of Prisons, 470 F.3d 471, 474 (2d Cir. 2006) (internal quotation marks and citations omitted) (emphasis in original). But the “special solicitude” in pro se cases, id. at 475 (citation omitted), has its limits – to state a claim, pro se pleadings still must comply with Rule 8 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, which requires a complaint to make a short and plain statement showing that the pleader is entitled to relief.

Rule 8 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure requires a complaint to include enough facts to state a claim for relief “that is plausible on its face.” Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007). A claim is facially plausible if the plaintiff pleads enough factual detail to allow the Court to draw the inference that the defendant is liable for the alleged misconduct. In reviewing the complaint, the Court must accept all well-pleaded factual allegations as true. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678-79 (2009). But it does not have to accept as true “[t]hreadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action,” which are essentially just legal conclusions. Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555. After separating legal conclusions from well-pleaded factual allegations, the Court must determine whether those facts make it plausible – not merely possible – that the pleader is entitled to relief. Id.

BACKGROUND

Plaintiff initially filed this action with 62 other OBCC detainees. By order dated December 12, 2024, the Court directed the Clerk of Court (1) to sever the claims brought by each individual plaintiff whose name appeared in the complaint and (2) to open a new civil action for each individual plaintiff.

The complaint contains several sets of allegations. Each set of allegations is handwritten by a different individual. The facts do not describe Plaintiff's individual experience at OBCC or how any particular defendant violated his rights. Rather, the facts are written from the perspective of all the individuals who signed the complaint. These facts concern several different incidents occurring at OBCC involving the alleged denial of medical care, general complaints about the conditions at OBCC, and specific allegations regarding alleged retaliation for complaints lodged about these conditions. The complaint does not specify, however, that Plaintiff suffered the denial of medical care or lodged complaints about his conditions.

Named as Defendants are the City of New York, the OBCC, Mayor Eric Adams, and Commissioner Lynelle Maginley-Liddie. Individual correction officers are mentioned throughout the complaint but are not named as defendants.

DISCUSSION

A. Otis Bantum Correctional Center

Plaintiff's claims against OBCC must be dismissed because it is not an entity that can be sued under the New York City Charter. This defendant is a jail operated by the New York City Department of Correction ("DOC"), and DOC is an agency of the City of New York that cannot be sued. N.Y. City Charter ch. 17, § 396 ("[A]ll actions and proceedings for the recovery of penalties for the violation of any law shall be brought in the name of the city of New York and not in that of any agency, except where otherwise provided by law."); Jenkins v. City of New York, 478 F.3d 76, 93 n.19 (2d Cir. 2007); see also Emerson v. City of New York, 740 F. Supp. 2d 385, 396 (S.D.N.Y. 2010) ("[A] plaintiff is generally prohibited from suing a municipal agency.”). The Court therefore dismisses OBCC as a defendant in this action for failure to state a claim on which relief may be granted. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(ii).

Plaintiff names as a defendant the City of New York, and any claims he intended to bring against OBCC may be asserted against the City of New York.²

B. Mayor Eric Adams and Commissioner Lynelle Maginley-Liddie

1. Official Capacity Claims

Plaintiff names as defendants Mayor Adams Commissioner Maginley-Liddie. To the extent Plaintiff seeks to assert these claims against these defendants in their official capacity, the Court construes these claims as claims against the City of New York, a named defendant in this action. See Kentucky v. Graham, 473 U.S. 159, 166 (1985) (“As long as the government entity receives notice and an opportunity to respond, an official-capacity suit is, in all respects other than name, to be treated as a suit against the entity [of which the officer is an agent].”). The Court dismisses the official capacity claims against these defendants. The claims against them will proceed against the City of New York.

2. Personal Capacity Claims

To state a claim under Section 1983, a plaintiff must allege facts showing the defendants’ direct and personal involvement in the alleged constitutional deprivation. See Spavone v. N.Y. State Dep’t of Corr. Serv., 719 F.3d 127, 135 (2d Cir. 2013) (“It is well settled in this Circuit that personal involvement of defendants in the alleged constitutional deprivations is a prerequisite to an award of damages under § 1983.”) (internal quotation marks omitted). A defendant may not be held liable under Section 1983 solely because that defendant employs or supervises a person who violated the plaintiff's rights. See Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 676 (2009) ("Government officials may not be held liable for the unconstitutional conduct of their subordinates under a theory of respondeat superior."). Rather, "[t]o hold a state official liable under § 1983, a plaintiff must plead and prove the elements of the underlying constitutional violation directly against the official[.]" Tangreti v. Bachmann, 983 F.3d 609, 620 (2d Cir. 2020).

² To state a Section 1983 claim against a municipality, Plaintiff must allege facts showing (1) the existence of a municipal policy, custom, or practice, and (2) that the policy, custom, or practice caused the violation of the plaintiff’s constitutional rights. See Jones v. Town of East Haven, 691 F.3d 72, 80 (2d Cir. 2012); Bd. of Cnty. Comm’rs v. Brown, 520 U.S. 397, 403 (1997) (internal citations omitted).

Plaintiff does not allege any facts showing how Defendants Mayor Eric Adams and Commissioner Lynelle Maginley-Liddie were personally involved in the events underlying his claims. Therefore, Plaintiff's personal capacity claims against these two defendants are dismissed for failure to state a claim because Plaintiff does not allege any facts in the complaint supporting an inference of their personal involvement. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(ii).

C. Plaintiff's Claims

As noted above, because the operative pleading is written from the perspective of several individuals, it does not include any facts specific to Plaintiff. In other words, the complaint does not provide factual allegations regarding Plaintiff's experiences and how any particular correction officer violated his rights. Accordingly, Plaintiff must allege his own set of facts detailing his claims and naming the individual officers who violated his rights.

Moreover, while correction officers are mentioned throughout the complaint, they are not named as defendants. If Plaintiff seeks to bring claims against these individuals, he must name them in the caption of the complaint and state facts suggesting that they violated his personal rights.

LEAVE TO AMEND

Plaintiff proceeds in this matter without the benefit of an attorney. District courts generally should grant a self-represented plaintiff an opportunity to amend a complaint to cure its defects, unless amendment would be futile. See Hill v. Curcione, 657 F.3d 116, 123-24 (2d Cir. 2011); Salahuddin v. Cuomo, 861 F.2d 40, 42 (2d Cir. 1988). Indeed, the Second Circuit has cautioned that district courts “should not dismiss [a pro se complaint] without granting leave to amend at least once when a liberal reading of the complaint gives any indication that a valid claim might be stated.” Cuoco v. Moritsugu, 222 F.3d 99, 112 (2d Cir. 2000) (quoting Gomez v. USAA Fed. Sav. Bank, 171 F.3d 794, 795 (2d Cir. 1999)). Because Plaintiff may be able to allege additional facts to state valid claims, the Court grants Plaintiff 60 days’ leave to amend his complaint to detail his claims as follows.

First, Plaintiff must name as the defendant(s) in the caption³ and in the statement of claim those individuals who were allegedly involved in the deprivation of his federal rights. If Plaintiff does not know the name of a defendant, he may refer to that individual as “John Doe” or “Jane Doe” in both the caption and the body of the amended complaint.⁴ The naming of John Doe defendants, however, does not toll the three-year statute of limitations period governing this action and Plaintiff shall be responsible for ascertaining the true identity of any “John Doe” defendants and amending his complaint to include the identity of any “John Doe” defendants before the statute of limitations period expires. Should Plaintiff seek to add a new claim or party after the statute of limitations period has expired, he must meet the requirements of Rule 15(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

³ The caption is located on the front page of the complaint. Each individual defendant must be named in the caption. Plaintiff may attach additional pages if there is not enough space to list all of the defendants in the caption. If Plaintiff needs to attach an additional page to list all defendants, he should write “see attached list” on the first page of the Amended Complaint. Any defendants named in the caption must also be discussed in Plaintiff’s statement of claim.

⁴ For example, a defendant may be identified as: “Correction Officer John Doe #1 on duty August 4, 2024, at OBCC, during the 7-3 p.m. shift.”

Second, in the “Statement of Claim” section of the amended complaint form, Plaintiff must provide a short and plain statement of the relevant facts supporting each claim against each defendant. If Plaintiff has an address for any named defendant, Plaintiff must provide it. Plaintiff should include all of the information in the amended complaint that Plaintiff wants the Court to consider in deciding whether the amended complaint states a claim for relief. That information should include:

- a) the names and titles of all relevant people;
- b) a description of all relevant events, including what each defendant did or failed to do, the approximate date and time of each event, and the general location where each event occurred;
- c) a description of the injuries Plaintiff suffered; and
- d) the relief Plaintiff seeks, such as money damages, injunctive relief, or declaratory relief.

Essentially, Plaintiff’s amended complaint should tell the Court: who violated his federally protected rights and how; when and where such violations occurred; and why Plaintiff is entitled to relief.

Because Plaintiff’s amended complaint will completely replace, not supplement, the original complaint, any facts or claims that Plaintiff wants to include from the original complaint must be repeated in the amended complaint.

CONCLUSION

Plaintiff is granted leave to file an amended complaint that complies with the standards set forth above. Plaintiff must submit the amended complaint to this Court’s Pro Se Intake Unit within 60 days of the date of this order, caption the document as an “Amended Complaint,” and label the document with docket number 24-CV-9646 (LTS). An Amended Civil Rights Complaint form is attached to this order. No summons will issue at this time. If Plaintiff fails to comply within the time allowed, and he cannot show good cause to excuse such failure, the complaint will be dismissed for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.

The Court dismisses Plaintiff's claims against Otis Bantum Correctional Facility, Mayor Eric Adams, and Commissioner Lynelle Maginley-Liddie. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(ii). The official capacity claims against Adams and Maginley-Liddie may be asserted against the City of New York, and the personal capacity claims against these two defendants are dismissed for failure to state a claim because Plaintiff does not allege any facts in the complaint supporting an inference of their personal involvement.

The Court certifies under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(3) that any appeal from this order would not be taken in good faith, and therefore in forma pauperis status is denied for the purpose of an appeal. Cf. Coppedge v. United States, 369 U.S. 438, 444-45 (1962) (holding that an appellant demonstrates good faith when he seeks review of a nonfrivolous issue).
